

JOUBINI WebEDI

Lean realization of EDI for all business partners

The challenge of standardized EDI

In today's dynamic business world, seamless communication with business partners is crucial. However, the use of traditional EDI (Electronic Data Interchange) solutions is often not viable for companies with low message volumes.

Any format, any platform, any business

With JOUBINI WebEDI, all business partners can conduct standardized data exchange without costly implementation projects or the use of their own converter solutions. The solution is part of our JOUBINI full-service portfolio. WebEDI is integrated cost-effectively and seamlessly into your existing EDI system. You will place orders, for example, as usual via JOUBINI, which are then automatically forwarded to WebEDI, converted and made accessible to your suppliers via a browser. Responses are processed automatically and transmitted back to you in the required format.
